T. A. KING

HOPKINSVILLE, KY. R. F. D. NO. 4.

Sample of Many.

Kentucky is now under the rule of the County Unit Law, which is doing all that its advocates expected. It is a Prohibition and Temperance measure of splendid merit. It is regrettable that the State-wide Prohibition issue should be dragged into the Democratic Primary arena at the present time. It is doing nothing only splitting the party into two factions (for or against) that are as unreasonable and bitter in their denunciation of each other as opponents could possibly be. After all the coming Legislature is where all that matter will be thrashed out, if at all, and no occupant of a State office will have anything to do with it in an official capacity. The Governor cannot officially veto or endorse a Constitutional amendment, which State-wide would require.—Hartford Herald.

If you have a house or building of any kind that you want moved see R. C. Lawson or call Cumberland phone 878-2.

Gigged a Big One.

Dr. J. L. Barker gigged a fish in West Fork creek, near Barker's Mill, Friday night, which weighed 18 pounds. Dr. Barker was a member of a gigging party. Several good ones are said to have been gigged, but Dr. Barker brought in the biggest piece of meat. The fish was a German Carp—Pembroke Journal.

French Leadership.

It is singularly fortunate for France, and for Europe, that, in this hour of danger, such a magnificent brood of Frenchmen have appeared to guide her destinies, men like President Poincaré, Millerand, the Minister of War, Briand, who holds the scales of Justice; Clemenceau, whose clear and critical spirit has done so much to reveal the moral issues of the war, and General Joffre, who has already won one of the decisive battles of the world.

If we had been told, a year ago, that France possessed an army and a leader who, though unexpectedly attacked, could meet, check, and hurl back from before the gates of Paris the picked armies of France's historic enemy, whose preparations were completed and who had chosen the hour of the attack, we should hardly have believed it. Yet this is just what General Joffre and his army have done, and the months of steady pressure upon the foe which the armies of the Allies have exercised since the Battle of the Marne, sufficiently show that that great victory was no result of chance, but was one of the logical fruits of the excellence of the armies of France, of the moral health and strength of the French nation.—From "The War Leaders of France," by Charles Johnson, in the American Review of Reviews for April.

Champion Nature Faker.
"I know a nature faker," said Mr. Bache, the author, "who claims that a hen of his last month hatched, from a setting of seventeen eggs, seventeen chicks that had, in lieu of feathers, fur. He claimed that these fur-coated chicks were proof of nature's adaptation of all animals to their environment, the seventeen eggs having been of the cold storage variety."

GAVE FRESH EGGS AS TIPS

But He Wouldn't Have His Nails Manicured When the Price Was Low.

A man who attracted attention by reason of the generous size of the check on his suit, and carrying a rosewood case, entered the barber shop of the Vanderbilt, and, after selecting an operator, carefully deposited his box near a hot rack, says the New York Times. Having been released from the chair, he strolled about the room, putting on his collar and necktie the while, and finally said to Miss Mae Lewis, the head artist of the manicure department, that he would like his nails treated.

"But," he said, "I must warn you that I do not give cash for tips; I give only eggs."

"Eggs!" gasped Miss Lewis.

"Surely," repeated the visitor, "real, fresh, newly laid eggs. You do not know what a treasure such a thing is in New York. I always bring a case of them when I come in from the country. Look!"

He brought over the rosewood case and opened it. On top, sure enough, was a layer of eggs.

"I never travel without them," went on the stranger. "This case I have had made especially for carrying them. Now, having seen how highly I value these eggs, would you consider an egg a substitute for a tip?"

"You don't have to tip," replied the manicurist, scornfully. "I'll be willing to fix your hands for the regular price."

"And what is that?"

He was told.
"Fifty cents!" he echoed. "Why, I should never think of having my nails done where they charge less than a dollar. Good-day."

And he put on his coat and hat, grabbed up the case and walked out, leaving everybody wondering.

LEARN MIGRATION OF MOTHS

Department of Agriculture Systematic in Its War on the Pest of the Farmer.

Unusual methods are being followed by the department of agriculture in its attempt to control the spread of army-worm moths in the United States. The plan, which embraces a close study of the habits of the insect, is one which requires the assistance of every person in the eastern and central states. The entomologists are catching the moths, coloring one wing of each and then liberating them in order to determine in what direction they emigrate, and how quickly and how far they spread. Agents at Portsmouth, Va., are staining one wing of each specimen red; those at Charlottesville, Va., black or yellow, and those at Hagerstown, Md., violet. The moths are then allowed to follow their natural course, and the success of the experiment is left to the advice returned to the bureau of entomology by the people at large.—Popular Mechanics.

Differentiating Dirigibles.

The London crowd which gapes cheerfully at the army airship maneuvering over the city always asks itself whether it is looking at a friendly vessel or a Zeppelin. It is apparently ignorant of the difference of design, and so free from "nerves" that the doubt does not disturb it. Probably if a Zeppelin really did come the average Londoner would crowd up for a good place to see the bomb dropping. The instinct for a front seat seems to be stronger than that of self-preservation. The Schutte-Lanz airship is not unlike an ordinary nonrigid airship in the shape of the balloon. It is not cylindrical, but whale shaped, like a submarine. But in construction it is like a Zeppelin, with a rigid aluminum framework. It is evidently considered a successful type, for Germany has been building as many of the Schutte-Lanz type as of the Zeppelin. The name is a compound of the names of designer and builder. The inventor was Schutte, and Lanz is the name of the firm that constructs them.

Working for Others.

A former Philadelphia newspaper man, who has been working on the papers in New York of late, returned to the city a few days ago as the press agent of a big musical show. Accompanied by his wife he secured quarters at one of the most expensive hostels of the city, and obligingly placed his initials upon the divers and sundry meal checks the waiters and bar boys proffered. Just as he received his bill for the first week an old acquaintance hailed him.

"Hello, Sheppard," he cried. "What are you doing back here?"
"Ten minutes ago I would have said I was working for Hammerstein," replied the press agent. "but now I see I am working for the — hotel!"

Famous Jewel Long Forgotten.

A famous jewel, presented by a London broker in 1789 to the president of Dartmouth college and designed to be worn by him on occasions of state, has been found in the vaults of Parkhurst Hall, where it has lain forgotten for many years. President Nichols may resume the old custom of wearing it on state occasions.

More to Be Feared.

"Don't you get tired of finding fault?"
"No," replied the patient man of responsibilities. "I suppose people have a right to discover faults. What I object to is the man who assumes that faults exist and never troubles himself to investigate."

DOOM FOR DEER AND HARE

Extirpation of Game Animals Planned to Avert the Annual Great Forest Fires.

Extirpation of deer and rabbit in New Jersey is planned by the state forestry commission as the only effective means of protecting the state woodlands against forest fires such as destroyed nearly $200,000 worth of property during the first two weeks of the recent gunning season.

The commission decided to seek the co-operation of the state fish and game commission in procuring legislation revoking the closed season for deer and rabbit. In the discussion preceding the adoption of this resolution it was freely admitted that such a course would ultimately result in the extermination of deer and rabbits, which are now to be found in considerable numbers in various parts of the state.

That the action of the forestry commission will stir up the opposition of most of the 70,000 hunters with which New Jersey is credited seems almost certain. On the other hand, farmers who say their crops are destroyed by deer and rabbits may line up on the other side and make the fight interesting. It is scarcely conceivable that the fish and game commission, whose every effort has been directed toward procuring greater restrictions, will join with the forestry board.—Trenton (N. J.) Dispatch to New York Sun.

LITTLE AFFECTED BY WAR

London's Whitechapel Pursues the More or Less Even Tenor of Its Way.

The wave of war has swept over London's Whitechapel, but has changed it very little, says Herman Sheffauer. Some of the physical signs and symbols are there—the garish posters, the bronze-brown of khaki, and the darkened streets that make London's Ghetto still more Ghetto-like.

Whitechapel is not only in the East, but of the East. Like Asia that "watched the legions thunder by, then plunged in thought again," the East end lifts up its eyes to the troops of the king, then turns to trade again.

There is always war in Whitechapel—the struggle to survive. To one fresh from the nervous West end and the hushed suburbs, the stir-and-bustle of Whitechapel has a brave defiance. It is not only business as usual, but business as from time immemorial. The Whitechapel tenacity has withstood crises more terrible than this—and among its own people. Refugees grow tough and indifferent, and Whitechapel is a retreat for the world's oldest and most numerous refugees.

Baseball's Birthday Coming.

The fortieth anniversary of the good, old National league is to be celebrated some time next year. The circuit was organized at the Broadway Central hotel in New York city in 1875, and former Governor Bulkeley of Connecticut, who still is living, was its first president. The present plans are to fix upon a certain date as anniversary day and have it celebrated by double-headers in the four cities in which the National teams will be playing at the time. There will also be a great gathering of veteran and modern fans in the metropolis to celebrate the day and among those who will be invited to this jollification will be all of the former presidents and leading baseball men representing the leagues in organized ball in the United States and Canada. What's that? Will there be a banquet? Of course there will; otherwise the irrepressible spellbinders would worry the real fans to death with their chatter around the hotel corridors.—Ed A. Goeway in Leslie's Weekly.

Dog-Meat?

A new export industry has sprung up in Denmark as a consequence of the war, that of the making of gullach—a kind of stew. Gullach is packed in tins and forwarded to Germany in great quantities. Every vacant factory, workshop and bakery all over the country has been turned into a cooking place for the production of gullach. Even with this increase of facilities the manufacturers say that the demand is greater than the supply. Anybody who can cook gullach need only apply to the German quartermaster's office in Berlin to get funds to put up a factory for cooking it. The consumption by the German army of gullach amounts to millions of tins weekly.

Franklin Pierce Statue.

New Hampshire has at last erected a memorial to the only president she has ever had. In one legislature after another the bills to provide a statue of Franklin Pierce have been introduced and defeated. It is the irony of fate that the very things which made him president and so eligible as the subject of a statue prevented his native state from thus honoring him. He became president by favor of the South and his gratitude impelled him to a course of action on the eve of war which made him an exile from his own home thenceforth.—Chicago Daily News.

New Enemy of Prairie Dog.

In South Dakota the automobile has been found a great success as a prairie dog exterminator. A piece of hose slipped onto the exhaust conducts the gases into the dog hole for a few minutes, when the hole is covered with earth. That is enough for the dog.
